Deferred

5.4. Bidingo bidding system for public art (Jennifer Kaye)

Jennifer outlined City of Hamilton public art procurement process and City of Hamilton’s recent change to the Bidingo management system to manage procurement bids. The use of the Bidingo management system has resulted in increased fees for artists submitting proposals to public art calls.

ACTION: Item deferred to March 27th AAC meeting agenda. City’s Art in Public Places Coordinator(s) to supply information to AAC about municipal public art procurement processes and fees in other Canadian cities as comparators for consideration.

5.5. Community Partnership Program – Culture Stream Adjudication Sub-Committee report (Tobi Bruce)

2012 CPP Adjudication Sub-Committee provided the following recommendations:

Recommendation 1 - Future AAC Adjudication Teams should be representative of the various disciplines that apply to the CPP Culture Stream and consist of a minimum of two people for each discipline reviewed.

Rationale – Dividing applications into disciplines and assigning corresponding members of the AAC who have expertise in the particular areas of the Arts will help to facilitate a more consistent approach across disciplines and better reflect community needs.

Recommendation 2 - Establish mechanism for feedback between adjudication teams (AAC) and the Grants Sub-Committee.

Rationale – There is a gap between the recommendations provided through the adjudication process and final recommendations made by the Grants Sub-Committee to Council.

Recommendation 3 – Arrange for members of the AAC, the Adjudication Teams and the Arts Funding Task Force to attend the Grants Sub-Committee (GSC) meeting when 2012 funding recommendations are presented.

Rationale - This is an opportunity for the AAC, the Adjudication Teams and the Arts Funding Task Force to watch the decision making process for the CPP Culture Stream and profile the related work of the Arts Advisory Commission.

MOTION: that the members of the CPP Adjudication Sub-Committee delegate to the Grants Sub-Committee regarding recommendations from the 2012 AAC Adjudication Team.
