EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The City of Hamilton has made an application to the province for a funding grant in the amount of $35,000 to allow the City to conduct a project and document its findings on Low Impact Development (LID) features for stormwater management in business and industrial park development. This type of Low Impact Development directs rain water away from the traditional discharge into storm sewers. Instead, features are incorporated into the site, such as, rain gardens and permeable pavements, as well as the collection of roof top rain water (grey water) into cisterns for reuse as landscape watering and toilet flushing. Run-off from severe storms are managed through grass swales, centralized dry ponds for flood control, and bio retention soils are incorporated into the site to allow infiltration of stormwater into the soil to maintain the hydrological cycle.

The Province has approved the City’s application for a funding grant at the Canada Bread industrial site located on the south/east corner of Twenty Road and Nebo Road in Glanbrook, subject to the City entering into a Grant Funding Agreement with the Province. Under the terms of the agreement, the City will be required to document its findings from the LID project and submit those findings to the Province, so that the Province may incorporate this information into a Provincial guideline that can be used by other municipalities for LID development in business and industrial park development.

The City has retained the services of AMEC consulting engineers to assist with the project study. AMEC has prepared a scope of works for the project which is within the limits of the funding grant approved by the Province, but will require minor adjustments to the timelines and some work items under the Grant Funding Agreement. There is no cost to the City other than in-kind incidental staff time to monitor and over-see the project progress.

Participation in this project by the City will help to make significant contributions to LID features in business and industrial park development by driving innovation, improve water quality and reduce the impact of stormwater run-off on the environment.

The City requires a by-law to be placed before Council for enactment which authorizes the City to execute the Grant Funding Agreement with the Province.

Alternatives for Consideration – See Page 5
FINANCIAL / STAFFING / LEGAL IMPLICATIONS

Financial: The funding grant ($35,000) to be provided by the Province in accordance with the Grant Funding Agreement will be used by the City to pay the consulting engineer’s (AMEC’s) fees to carry out the LID project analysis and prepare documentation for the Province. The consultant has submitted a work plan to the City which is within the limits of funding to be provided by the Province for the LID project. There is no financial impact to the City to participate in this project, other than in-kind incidental staff time to co-ordinate and monitor the project.

Staffing: The existing staff complement is sufficient to fulfil the staff resource requirements for the project.

Legal: There are no legal implications with regard to the by-law and Grant Funding Agreement attached to Report PED11066.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Located on the south/east corner of Nebo and Twenty Roads at 745 Nebo Road, in Glanbrook, Canada Bread is a 33,453m² industrial bakery facility developed in 2010 under site plan application DA-10-041. There are watermains and sanitary sewers existing within the right-of-way abutting the property, but no storm sewer available to service the subject lands. These lands are located within the Upper Hannon Creek Sub-watershed area which drains into Hamilton Harbour. This area has a Remedial Action Plan to restore the health of the harbour by reducing the amount of sediment entering the harbour and Lake Ontario by improving stormwater quality. Construction of the bakery facility building, as well as the surrounding 275 space parking lot and 28 space loading area resulted in re-alignment of a portion of the existing water course, as well as a substantial increase in the imperviousness of the site. As condition of site plan approval, the applicant was required to provide on-site stormwater management facilities for quality, erosion and quantity control to ensure that the new development did not have any flooding impacts on neighbouring properties both upstream and downstream of the site due to the absence of a municipal storm sewer.

The applicant has taken this development opportunity to incorporate landscape based facilities for managing stormwater run-off. These features are generally referred to as Low Impact Development (LID) and will include rain gardens and bio-retention swales, as well as the collection of roof top rain water (grey water) into cisterns for reuse as landscape watering and toilet flushing. Run-off from severe storms that will flow to the road allowances will be managed through grass swales, centralized dry ponds for flood control and bio retention soils will be incorporated into the site to allow infiltration of stormwater into the soil to maintain the hydrological cycle.

The City of Hamilton is a member of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Cities Initiative (GLSLCI) which is a bi-national coalition of mayors and other local officials who work actively with Federal and Provincial governments to advance the protection and restoration of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River. Stormwater management and climate change are key issues for the GLSLCI members. Presently, there is a need for development of municipal programs for better managing stormwater run-off in industrial and business parks. In that regard, the City has applied to the Province for a funding grant to conduct a study on the LID features incorporated into the Canada Bread site. AMEC, an independent consulting engineering company has been retained by the City to create the scope of work and carry out the project study. The Province has agreed to provide funding to the City in the amount of $35,000, subject to the City entering into a Grant Funding Agreement whereby, the City will agree to document its experience with LID for the purpose of providing the Province with information which the Province can use to create a provincial guideline to encourage other municipalities to incorporate LID features in their business and industrial parks.

Before the City can enter into the Grant Funding Agreement with the Province for this project, a by-law must be enacted by Council, authorizing execution of the Grant Funding Agreement by the City.

POLICY IMPLICATIONS

This project and the benefits that will result in the implementation of the LID features including: roof top storage, drainage and grade improvements, and the permanent removal of “significant threat” activities, demonstrates excellence in environmental stewardship. The program will enhance the natural environment while ensuring a safe and controlled discharge of stormwater run-off water. The culmination of the program will be showcased as a demonstration of Provincial and Municipal efforts to assess, identify and mitigate drinking water source threats in compliance with the Ontario Water Opportunity and Water Conservation Act.

RELEVANT CONSULTATION

The Legal Services Division has provided the legal review of the Grant Funding Agreement and related authorizing by-law.
ANALYSIS / RATIONALE FOR RECOMMENDATION

The Grant Funding Agreement enables the City of Hamilton to participate in and make significant contributions to LID features for business and industrial park development. This project also enables the City to be a contributor to the Province by assisting the Province in developing a Provincial guideline that can be used by other municipalities for source control of stormwater management for business or industrial park development.

ALTERNATIVES FOR CONSIDERATION

The City is using the Canada Bread development as an opportunity to deviate from the alternative of ‘business as usual’ approach where rain water is directed to existing storm sewers to a more environmentally beneficial alternative of incorporating LID features in business and industrial development park lands. The latter and more sustainable alternative inspires creative design for stormwater management, enhances intergovernmental partnerships, establishes the City as an innovator in LID design features and will ultimately lead to a Provincial guideline document for other municipalities which the City will be recognized as a participating contributor.

A1. DEFINITIONS

In Schedule “A” the following words shall have the following meanings:

“GLSLCI” means the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Cities Initiative

“IC&I” means industrial, commercial and institutional

A2. BACKGROUND

In Ontario, municipalities are responsible for managing the urban stormwater generated from their communities. Urban communities have residential areas and industrial, commercial and institutional ("IC&I") facilities. In some cases, the IC&I facilities are clustered in segregated areas that are sometimes referred to as business or industrial parks. Often, stormwater from these highly impervious areas are collected in municipal storm sewers and discharged in nearby streams and lakes. The stormwater may carry and discharge contaminants such as suspended solids, phosphorous, bacteria, metals and organic chemicals. The storm events pose a potential risk of water pollution, urban flooding and stream erosion that may also pose potential safety and/or financial risk for businesses, municipalities and the public. The increased intensity and frequency of future storm events associated with the changing climate is anticipated to exacerbate the risks.

The photo (source: Google) shows Highway 403 and Dundas Street area with many “big box” retail stores, movie theatre, restaurants, light industries and other businesses. The numerous roofs, parking lots and roads contribute significantly to run-off during storm events. They also represent significant opportunities for innovative stormwater management at the source.

“Source control” refers to managing rainwater where it falls, on individual lots or nearby in the neighbourhood, typically alongside roads. Source control facilities rely on stormwater reuse, infiltration, evaporation and vegetation to reduce flows and treat for contaminants.

Stormwater can be reused for flushing toilets or watering the landscape. Other opportunities may include non-potable water use as wash water, cooling/heating water or process water by businesses or industries. Landscape based facilities for managing stormwater is referred to as Low Impact Development ("LID"). LID uses landscape facilities to manage runoff, improve water quality and promote trees and green space enjoyed by people. Examples of LID facilities or practices include green roofs, rain barrels, rain gardens and permeable pavement. Pollution prevention and reusing stormwater as an alternative source of water are key principles of source control.

The Recipient is developing a 25 hectare business park known as the Red Hill Industrial Business Park. The Recipient has taken this development opportunity to innovate from the “business as usual” of accepting all business/industrial source stormwater for management through municipal storm sewers and ponds. The Recipient has encouraged or required practices such as stormwater reuse, rooftop detention and LID features such as rain gardens, and permeable pavements. The run-off from severe storm events (up to 1 in 100 return storm) that will flow to the road rights of way will be managed through grassed swales and centralized dry pond for flood control. The change from business as usual required review of and changes to municipal practices and requirements, cross-cutting discussions with several municipal departments, and council endorsement/approval. While the business park and the individual lots are still under construction, much can be learned from the Recipient’s experience to date on changes required to municipal procedures, programs, incentives and requirements to encourage, negotiate or require stormwater source control on the lot.

The City of Guelph is another innovator that is developing a 270 hectare industrial park named the Hanlon Creek Business Park with source control requirements to meet block-specific groundwater recharge targets, both conventional storm sewers and vegetated conveyance swales and stormwater management ponds. Also, industrial sites in the Hanlon and the nearby Southgate Business Parks in Guelph provides for the on-site management of 1 in 100 year return storm event based on the highly permeable soil found in the area and undulating moraine topography and absence of a receiving surface water body. Similar to the Recipient, the City of Guelph has and is continuing to review municipal procedures, programs, incentives and requirements to encourage, negotiate or require stormwater source control on the lot.

The Recipient is also a member of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Cities Initiative (“GLSLCI”). GLSLCI is a binational coalition of mayors and other local officials that works actively with federal, state, and provincial governments to advance the protection and restoration of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River. Stormwater management and climate change are key issues for the GLSLCI members.

The Water Opportunity and Water Conservation Act, which was recently passed, can drive innovation, create economic opportunities, sustain water infrastructure and promote water conservation. Stormwater reuse and LID technologies or practices are anticipated as key opportunities for innovation.

Business or industrial parks are highly impervious and contribute to significant stormwater run-off. Overall, there is a need for municipal programs and development decisions for strengthening the sustainability of business or and industrial parks by better managing stormwater at the source. The Recipient, with Ministry assistance, has negotiated in-kind contribution with partners, including the City of Guelph ("Guelph") and the GLSLCI to assist in the completion of the project. The table below illustrates the contributions of the partners.

A3. PROJECT OBJECTIVE

Under this Grant Funding Agreement, the Recipient is responsible to conduct a project in which it will document the municipal role and experience on the development of business or industrial parks including stormwater management at the source (the "Project"). The document will contribute to a toolkit which may assists the Recipient and other municipalities in developing or approving a business or industrial park.

A4. RECIPIENT OBLIGATIONS

   a. Review and consider the knowledge and experience gained through the Red Hill Industrial Business Park in Hamilton and the Hanlon Creek Business Park in Guelph as it pertains to the Project.
   b. Review and consider the Draft Eco-Industrial Design Guidelines for the Airport Employment Growth District of the Recipient as it pertains to the Project.
   c. Review Hamilton and Guelph’s (and where possible other municipalities’) current municipal framework of policies, programs, procedures (e.g. planning, by-laws, permitting, development charges, fees, incentives, approaches) and other factors involved in the development of a business or industrial park, with emphasis on stormwater management.
   d. Coordinate the identification of issues and potential solutions with participating municipalities and municipal departments (e.g. engineering, planning, operations, landscaping, economic development, road or public works departments), for example, through interviews/surveys/workshop as appropriate.
   e. Review and assess the municipal knowledge-base and staff capacity knowledge of the engineering or other departments related to introduction of source control stormwater management for business or industrial park development for the Recipient and Guelph.
   f. Summarize the key factors and steps for the Recipient and Guelph communicating the rationale or benefits for collaboration on a new approach for stormwater management for business or industrial parks with municipal departments, municipal council and developers/businesses.
g. Review the pros and cons of source control measures considered.

h. Summarize municipal policies, programs, procedures that were developed to encourage, negotiate or require stormwater source control in the development.

k. Describe municipal tools available under provincial legislations (e.g. Municipal Act, Planning Act, Building Code Act, Ontario Water Resources Act), other legislations or best practices that were or can be utilized to develop and implement a mandatory or voluntary program for business or industrial parks with source control stormwater management. Identify potential gaps.

5. Complete interim, draft and final Development Study Report on the development of business or industrial parks with source control stormwater management based on the completion of the workplan.

7. Make the Development Study Report publicly available on the Recipient's public web site for at least five years.
