4.1 Strategies to Achieve Results Through Urban Partnerships (St.Art-Up)

Krysta Boyer, who works as the Volunteer Coordinator at the Waterdown Community Policing Centre, presented an initiative she started in 2009 in Dundas as a proactive approach to graffiti management. The Strategy to Achieve Results Through Urban Partnerships (St.Art-Up) initiative aims to:

- Beautify the city by cleaning up existing illegal tagging;
- Develop and maintain positive and sustaining relationships between youth, the community, police and local government;
- Integrate a youth mentorship program within the community;
- Promote urban art and educate the community on its positive impact;
- Inform the community on the differences between urban art and illegal graffiti, and;
- Provide additional positive recreational supports for youth in the community.

Ms. Boyer proposes to invite youth and business stakeholders to youth engagement forums through which recommendations for mural projects can be initiated. The projects would be implemented through a block program that aims to clean up graffiti and allow for the painting of murals to provide youth with the opportunity to showcase their talents. The mural projects would be approved by a committee of stakeholders.

Consultation to date includes an initial presentation to the Clean City Liaison Committee (June 17, 2010), research on similar programs in Toronto, Halifax and Ottawa, and consultation with youth workers and street artists.

The proposed budget required for the initiative is estimated to be $3,200 over two years. Suggestions from CCLC members for funding sources included the City grants program, Keep America Beautiful/Graffiti Hurts grants and the Hamilton Community Foundation.
K. Barnett informed the group that a similar initiative is being considered in the Stinson neighbourhood and invited Ms. Boyer to participate and assist with youth engagement.

5. Subcommittee Reports

5.1 Council Committee Reports
J. Hawker noted that the Smoke-Free Outdoor Recreation Areas By-law was to be implemented as of May 31. P. Homerski indicated that Public Health Services had developed a strategic communications program that included direct communication with sports associations and other parks user groups and paid advertising, among other communications tactics. He also informed the members that Public Works was implementing a pilot cigarette litter containment program which includes 12 parks, half of which will have cigarette ash containers installed at the entrances to the parks. Cigarette litter scans in all 12 parks and data on the volume of cigarette litter collected in the ash containers will be analyzed at the end of the three-month program to assess any operational impacts of the By-law on parks and roads maintenance.

6. Keep Hamilton Beautiful (KAB)
6.1 KAB Grants
P. Homerski reported that Keep Hamilton Beautiful had received notification that CCLC/Keep Hamilton Beautiful was successful in securing a Keep America Beautiful/Coca-Cola Bin Grant of 40 containers that can be used for recycling at festivals and special events.

P. Homerski reported that the Crown Point Clean and Safe Railway Neighbourhood stakeholders’ group met on May 14. Residents are supportive of the stop-up and closure of the alleyway that runs parallel to the CN rail tracks on the north side between Strathearn Avenue and Division Street. CN’s Public Works staff are working with the City and the neighbourhood north of the CN tracks between Kenilworth Avenue and Ottawa Street on options for a safe pedestrian crossing. A neighbour watch program that includes electronic surveillance is planned to help combat illegal dumping along the rail lines. Staff is working with Councillors Morelli and Farr on identifying the area for the next Clean and Safe Railway Neighbourhood program.
