4. Presentations:
Background of the Hate Crime Unit.
- The Hate Crime Unit was established in 2003 and is a sub-unit of the Victims of Crime Branch, in the Investigative Services Division
- The Unit conducts investigations, prepares for court cases related to Hate propaganda offences, assists community groups with education and crime prevention concerning hate/bias crimes, tracks, maintains statistics on hate/bias incidents and prepares the year-end Hate Crime Statistical Report
- In 2003, the HPS along with Ottawa, Guelph, London and Waterloo Regional Police Services, in partnership with the Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services, formed the Hate Crime Extremism Investigative Team (H.C.E.I.T.)
- The HPS defines a hate/bias crime as a “criminal offence committed against a person or property, which is motivated by the suspect’s hate/bias against a person’s race, national or ethnic origin, language, colour, religion, sex, age, mental or physical disability, sexual orientation, any other similar factor”
The Criminal Code of Canada has three categories of hate crimes: Hate Propaganda, Public Incitement and Religious Mischief.

You must have consent from the Attorney General’s Office before proceeding with hate crimes, in the above-mentioned categories; each offence includes the targeting of a person from an “identifiable group” which is identified by the Criminal Code as “any section of the public distinguished by colour, race, religion or ethnic origin and sexual orientation”.

If a crime is determined as a hate crime, Section 718.2 calls for increased sentencing; in such a case, a request would have to be made to the Crown for increased sentencing.

The Hate Crime Unit offers victim support. The Chief’s team follows-up with cases and investigators work with victims.

Training for Hate Crime officers was offered in a pilot through the Ontario Police College but there is still a gap, in terms of looking for supporting evidence.

Hate/Bias Overtone incidents are tracked, in case of a recurrence.

Bill 168 requires employers to protect workers against violence and harassment. However, if it is a criminal incident, the police must be contacted.

In 2012, there were 161 hate/bias events in Hamilton.

Every report is reviewed by a supervisor, then passed on to the hate crimes unit.

There is training provided for every police officer, in capturing evidence related to hate crimes.

Breakdown of Hate Crime Cases

- The most targeted communities, for hate crimes, in 2012, were: the Black community, the Jewish community, and the LGBTQ community.
- Many hate crimes were graffiti-related.
- Across North America, the most extreme acts were physical acts committed against the LGBTQ community.

Questions and Answers

Q. Would literature against women, for instance, fall under an identifiable group?

A. No.

Q. Would anti-women literature fall under Public Incitement of Hatred, Section 319?

A. Yes.

Q. Would this be covered elsewhere?

A. Yes, in Section 718.

Q. What is the success rate of hate crime prosecutions?

A. This number is not captured in the court system, but the HPS does track cases that have gone through court.
Q. Who establishes criteria for hate crimes?

A. The criteria are established by the Criminal Code.

Q. Is there discretion on defining hate crimes?

A. There has to be evidence for charges to be laid.

Q. Which governmental agency does the Criminal Code come from? For example; Parliament or the Supreme Court?

A. An Act or Bill comes through a Member of Parliament, then gets passed to the Criminal Code. The Supreme Court reviews all laws and can send it back to Parliament, for revisions.

Q. Does an overtone have to be overt?

A. Yes, or it could be ambiguous.

Q. How does Hamilton rank with other major cities in Canada?

A. Hamilton ranks number seven, according to Statistics Canada, for hate/bias crimes.

Q. How many officers go to a scene of a hate crime?

A. The number of officers depends on the case and what gets reported.

Q. How do victims, who fit multiple categories get recorded? E.g. intersections of identity? Are they double-counted?

A. Such cases may be recorded more than once, depending on which categories they fit into.

Q. The 2007-2012 Hate/Bias Crime Report reveals that Hamilton has decreased in hate/bias crimes. Why did we decrease?

A. This is the result of multiple factors, such as streamlining reporting, an increase in training and a decrease in case ambiguity.

Q. CAR is working on developing a telephone helpline and resource centre, to provide information, support and referrals, to individuals experiencing racism. What does the HPS think about such a mechanism to assist the individuals who may be victims of racism?
A. A reporting and support mechanism would be a good avenue for the community to open up channels. Furthermore, it would serve as an additional resource for individuals, as the time for recovery, after experiencing a racist incident, is very lengthy. This is especially the case when an incident does not meet a criminal aspect. Lastly, it could serve as a valuable educational piece for the community.

Q. Can a witness report a hate crime?

A. Yes. However, this will impact how the case moves forward, as a complainant is required to build evidence.

Q. If the definition of hate crime is clearly defined by the Criminal Code, why does it need to be fine-tuned in the system?

A. Some hate crimes are not classified correctly, so it needs to be fine-tuned. Only the Hate Crimes Officer can reassess coding.

Q. What measures is the HPS taking to make sure that the Service is representative of the community?

A. HPS recently issued a self-identification survey, to increase diversity. The Service also offers training in cultural competence and a four-day block training once a year, on domestic violence, hate crimes, racism, LGBTQ, and First Nations. In addition, the Service also attends community events.

Q. Is income disparity a criterion in hate crimes?

A. No.

Q. There is a lot of grey area for non-hate crimes. What is in place to educate students?

A. There are school liaison officers trained in restorative justice.
